WHO WE ARE

---

Since the first 'glug' back in the 1870's, the Gluggle Jug has become an irresistible centrepiece for any occasion. The happy 'glugging' sound emanating from this fish's mouth when liquid is poured at three quarters full, brings a twist of entertainment and novelty to any dinner table.

Today, Wade Ceramics has an expansive Gluggle Jug range: growing from the original jug to 3 different size versions and a wide array of colour possibilities. These possibilities allow for Gluggle Jugs to not only serve as fully functional decanters, but can also be used for decorative purposes and to organise a personal space.

Our Gluggle Jugs are only produced using the finest British raw materials as we are located in Stoke-on-Trent, Staffordshire. It's also known as the Potteries – the traditional home of ceramics in England and famed across the world. But it's not just our location or our unique 200 year history which sets us apart. With craftsmanship at the very heart of our company, we've developed an intricate process which ensures quality at every stage of manufacturing.

ORNAMENTAL

---

When it comes to being left on the shelf, our Gluggle Jugs really don't mind. From contemporary to trendy, there's a Wade Ceramics Gluggle Jug for any interior. The beauty of your décor can be accentuated with a fresh bouquet delicately arranged in a Gluggle Jug vase.

JUG

Morning, noon and night, our Gluggle Jugs serve as excellent decanters whatever the occasion. In the evening, our Gluggle Jugs sit elegantly on the dinner table, setting a dulcet tone for a sophisticated dining experience.

ORGANISER

The novelty jug also lends itself to be the most ideal article for sorting and storing your tools and equipment.
